Could Coolidge Say No?
To Discourage Vice.
P. R. R. Flying Plans.
Reds, and a Mosquito.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

MR. DARROW, of the house naval affairs committee, told President Coolidge his friends "still hoped" he would be a candidate. The president replied: "I am afraid they will have to be disappointed."

Die-hard Coolidge enthusiasts will find SOME comfort in that word "afraid." A man cannot help being persuaded if arguments are good.

Suppose the president were convinced, as he may be, that his renomination and re-election, a second time, would boom business, increase employment, stabilize prosperity, and free his party from all stain danger, could he continue to say no?

A WISE old poker player, as he raised, would say: "To discourage vice, make it expensive." Financial powers borrowed the idea Tuesday, raising the price of "call money," which means gambling money, to 6 per cent, first time in more than a year.

That annoyed ardent bulls. Things had come to a pretty pass, they thought, if gentlemen engaged in street speculation, they must pay for money almost as much as a farmer borrowing to build a new barn.

OIL production in California, because of the "shut-in" plan, drops 13,250 barrels a day, enough to lower the whole national output. Oil stocks will be cheered by this news.

GENERAL ATTERBURY will sell $17,500,000 Pennsylvania railroad stock to employees, a good way to interest them in their company.

AVIATION is a reality, says General Atterbury, and railroads should know it. He is said to plan for the Pennsylvania a part-railroad, partly flying machine service from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The traveler would spend daylight in the flying machine, night hours on the train, cross the continent in 48 hours, avoiding mountain flying. This rumor is not guaranteed.

THE conservative Japanese party, back of the Mikado, is worried by an unusually grave situation, caused by communism.

"Red" theories imported from Russia do not agree with government by relations of the sun and moon.

A FRENCHMAN cultivates a mosquito that doesn't bite and does drive out the biting mosquito. This new mosquito that bites other animals, even hens, not humans, might solve the mosquito disease-carrying problem.

Those Japanese "reds," providing an element that wouldn't bite the white rats in any Asiatic-European war, might be very useful.

HENRY FORD interests the British more than any American has done in 50 years with two exceptions—Thomas A. Edison and Buffalo Bill. Says Britons should use more machinery and save labor. British unions will object to that, not having learned that only machinery fully used makes high wages possible.

When Ford saw a gigantic 50-acre dump that has been burning for centuries, he wanted to harness that and change lost heat into power.

However, the British government is not backward. It plans to harness the tides at the Severn mouth, expecting to get enough electric energy to run England's six biggest cities.

ITALY'S KING AND PREMIER ARE UNINJURED IN TWO BLASTS

Bomb Outrages Are Reported From Milan and Berne.

40 ARE WOUNDED

Find Explosive on Track as Mussolini Train Nears.

PARIS, April 12.—Alleged plots to assassinate King Victor Emanuel and Premier Mussolini, of Italy, the former resulting in a bomb outrage in Milan which cost the lives of 14 persons were reported from Milan and Berne today.

Explosion at Trade Fair. A bomb was exploded in Milan, at 10 o'clock this morning just before the arrival of King Victor Emanuel to inaugurate a trade fair. Fourteen persons were killed and 40 were wounded.

At the same time a dispatch from Berne reported that a bomb was found upon the railway tracks near Como, Italy, just before a train carrying Premier Mussolini was due to pass.

Mussolini was returning to Rome. A man who was holding a detonator wire was arrested. This bomb was discovered several days ago, it is understood, as Mussolini was in Rome yesterday where he held an interview with S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparation payments under the Dawes plan.

Panic in Milan. The perpetrators of the bomb outrage in Milan acted with the utmost boldness. The streets through which the Italian king was to pass were lined with soldiers and police, but the bomber or bombers were able to smuggle the infernal machine into the closely packed square where it exploded.

LONDON, April 12.—Panic followed the explosion of a high power bomb in Milan today just before the arrival of King Victor Emanuel to open the Milan trade fair, said a Central News dispatch from Paris. The Milan streets, through which the king was to pass, were thronged. The explosion was of terrific force. It was immediately followed by sensational rumors. The authorities quickly conferred and decided not to change the king's plans. Consequently the exhibition was opened according to program.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Suit for $250,000 libel against Mayor William Hale Thompson was filed in the superior court here today in behalf of former Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew.

McAndrew charges that Mayor Thompson, in his "war against England," maliciously attempted to destroy McAndrew's reputation for patriotism and as an educator.

GERMANS BRAVE ATLANTIC IN WESTWARD HOP

Two German airmen—Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld (upper left) and Capt. Hermann Koehl (upper right) and Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice, of the Irish Free State, are winging their way from Baldonnel airfield, Dublin, across the Atlantic to America today.

They hopped in the Junkers monoplane Bremen, which failed in a previous attempt.

ROBBERS WRECK SAND OFFICE SAFE, GET $100

Sledge Hammer and Chisel Used in Night Job.

DOOR BATTERED Amateurs Blamed for Job in Second Street.

For the second time within less than 16 months, safe in the office of the East Liverpool Sand company, at the end of West Second street, was battered open last night and $100 in cash stolen. The safe was robbed January 1, 1927, when $25 was taken. Sidney Griffin, river superintendent for the company, discovered the robbery at 6 o'clock this morning when he was on his way to work. His attention was attracted by the open door of the office building and the drawn window shades. He notified Harry Hoffman, secretary-treasurer of the company.

With a chisel and a hammer the robbers knocked the combination dial from the safe door, then removed the bolts in the hinge. The lock in the small drawer on the inside the safe in which the money was kept was jimmied. Nothing in the office was disturbed.

Police, who investigated, found a hammer in the office which is believed to have been used by the cracksmen who are believed to be amateurs. Entrance to the office was made with the use of a case knife or other bladed instrument with which the bolt in the lock was slipped back. Captain of Police Conley and Patrolman William Lister investigated.

"CLEAN STREET" APPEAL MADE

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore today appealed to the public to assist in keeping the downtown streets free from waste paper and other refuse.

Street department workers yesterday morning cleaned streets in the business section. Two hours afterwards, according to the director, the thoroughfares were again cluttered with paper.

More than a dozen metal receptacles have been placed in the business district for the collection of waste paper, and the public is requested to make use of them. A city ordinance prohibits the scattering of waste paper on the streets, Moore declared.

The base will be four feet in depth and about 22 feet in circumference. It will occupy a site adjoining the present standpipe which supplies water to the Northside, Maplewood and Park Boulevard sections.

The Chicago Bridge & Iron company, Cleveland, given the contract for the erection of the standpipe, will begin to assemble the cylinder early in May. The pipe will be 70 feet in height and have a capacity of 150,000 gallons.

Two German Airmen And Irish Pilot on Way Across Atlantic

Civil Guards on Aran Island, at Entrance to Bay of Galway, 125 Miles From Dublin, Sight Captain Koehl, Commandant Fitzmaurice and Baron Von Huenefeld.

FREE STATE AIR FORCE LEADER IS READY TO HANDLE "JOY-STICK"

Several Hundred Irish Soldiers Cheer as Heavily-loaded Junkers Monoplane Gracefully Takes Off on Attempt to be First to Span Sea in Westward Flight.

Twenty-six trans-Atlantic passenger steamers line the path which the silver gray German monoplane, Bremen, has taken in its projected flight from Baldonnel field, near Dublin, to Mitchell field, N. Y., but none of them up to shortly before noon had reported sighting the plane. Only a few of these liners, however, were close enough to the European coast to have sighted the Bremen so soon.

The first word from the Bremen, after it hopped off at 5:38 a. m. today (12:38 a. m. New York time) with Captain Hermann Koehl, Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice and Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld aboard, came in the form of a Central News dispatch from Galway which said that the plane passed over Galway, on the west coast of Ireland, at 7:05 a. m., (2:05 a. m. New York time). The plane was flying strongly in a northwesterly direction. Then 7:25 a. m. civil guards on Aran island, at the entrance to the Bay of Galway, reported sighting the plane.

Weather conditions were reported satisfactory as far as mid-Atlantic but there was indications that, after that point is reached, the flyers may run into difficulties. Dr. James H. Kimball of the New York weather bureau said that strong winds, severe cold and sleet along the north Atlantic coast await the flyers. He said that easterly winds are blowing over Halifax at the rate of 32 miles an hour and that if the Bremen keeps up her anticipated schedule she should arrive at Cape Grace, just in time to meet a storm which is moving northward from Cape Cod.

The Bremen has no radio but word was being awaited from liners in the hope that one or more of them would sight her and report her progress.

THREE PREVIOUS WESTERN FLIGHT ATTEMPTS COST LIVES OF SEVEN

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Another "gamble with death"—a westward flight across the Atlantic—is on, this time two Germans and an Irishman taking the "long chance" that already has cost the lives of five men and two women.

Three previous attempts were made to span the ocean, from Europe to America, and all of them ended in tragic failures.

Yet there is a strong belief in aviation circles here that the daring flight of the German plane Bremen, with Captain Hermann Koehl, Baron Ehrenfried Huenefeld and Colonel James J. Fitzmaurice aboard, will be successful. This belief is predicated on the fact that the most careful advance preparations were made and that the three men did not hop off until weather conditions seemed to be satisfactory in every respect.

If Koehl, Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice, who hopped off from Baldonnel field, near Dublin, at 5:38 this morning (12:38 New York time), fly the 3,000 miles to Mitchell field at 90 to 100 miles an hour, they may arrive between 7 a. m. and noon on Friday (New York time), probably more nearly the latter time.

Weather Conditions O. K.

Weather conditions were reported to be excellent as far as mid-Atlantic but what the elements have in store for the flyers thereafter is a matter of conjecture. A light rain and variable winds prevailed in this region this morning. Advances from St. Johns, Newfoundland, were to the effect that the weather was fine this afternoon but that an easterly gale and a heavy rain is forecast for tonight. The flyers are taking the northerly route which would take them across Newfoundland on their way to Mitchell field.

The previous attempts that failed were: Captain Charles Nungesser and Major Francois Coll. They hopped off in the White Bird on May 8, 1927, in a Paris-to-New York flight.

Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Captain Leslie Hamilton, and Randolph R. Minchin. They took off in the St. Raphael on August 8, 1927, in an attempt to fly from Pavon, England, to Ottawa, Ontario.

Honorable Elsie Mackay and Captain Walter R. G. Hincheliffe. They hopped off in the Endeavour on March 13, 1928, in an attempted flight from Croydon airfield, England, to New York or Philadelphia.

All three planes carrying these adventurers vanished.

Ten Lost on Eastern Jump. Ten flyers lost their lives, in addition, in attempts on three occasions to cross the Atlantic. They were: Philip Payne, Lloyd Bertand and John D. Hill. They hopped off in Old Glory from Old Orchard, Maine, for Rome on September 6, 1927.

Captain Terry Tully and Lieut. James Medcalf, Canadians, who took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, for Croydon, England, on Sept. 7, 1927.

Mrs. Frances Grayson and three companions who hopped off from Roosevelt field for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on the first leg of a flight to Croydon, England. They left New York on December 23, 1927.

Atlantic Spanned Five Times. The Atlantic has been spanned in an easterly direction five times. Three planes, all manned by Americans, have accomplished the feat. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh blazing the way in the Spirit of St. Louis, from New York to Paris, starting May 20, 1927. Two British and two American flyers flew the North Atlantic from Newfoundland to Ireland and England.

Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine flew from New York to Germany; Commander Richard E. Byrd and three companions, Bert Acosta, Lieut. G. O. Noville and Bert Balchen, flew from New York to France; William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee negotiated the journey from Newfoundland to England and Captain John Alcock and Lieutenant Arthur W. Brown winged their way from Newfoundland to Ireland.

STORY OF RIVALRY BEHIND HOP OF CAPT. KOEHL AND COMPANIONS

learned, is backed by the Junkers and the German shipping interests. Although officials of both the Junkers and North German Lloyd deny that they have anything to do with the Bremen flight, the fact that leading personalities in both companies are the real backers of Koehl and von Huenefeld, is expected to come to light if the flight is a success.

Meanwhile Lufthansa is now completing plans for trans-Atlantic airmail lines. The company expects to start test flights with huge flying boats this year. If these are successful, the company expects to start regular trans-Atlantic airmail service next year.

"THE GAUCHO"
COMING HERE
Douglas Fairbanks Picture Booked at American.

Douglas Fairbanks as "The Gaucho" which opens on Monday at the American theatre, is a story designed for the motion picture audiences of the world, according to the statement of the star himself.
In appearing in his fourth role of a robber chief, Doug performs with his usual bravado and daring.
He has chosen one of the most picturesque parts of the world for his scenes, and a colorful character in the gaucho rider of the Andean border.
There is the rich flavor of romance in Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho and one gets vivid impressions of adventurous pampas life. The story is one of rivalry between a bandit chief (Fairbanks) and a dictator (von Seyffertitz) with his commandante (Vavitch) to seize the riches of a city grown about a shrine where miracles of healing occur. The bandit falls under the spell of a wild village girl (Lupe Velez) and later a fair pilgrim of the shrine (Eve Southern). His treacherous lieutenant (Charlie Stevens) has his force dismissed, and a series of adventures leading to the capture and escape of Doug, and the wild ride of his dusky hordes led by the madcap, and the saving of the shrine girl and her padre protector from the scaffold, contribute toward a real evening's entertainment.

The picture has been directed by F.
Richard Jones. The story comes from Fairbanks himself, who got the idea of the shrine when visiting Our Lady of Lourdes in France.

OHIO DRY AGENT IS DISMISSED
LORAIN, O., April 12.—O. E. Rankin, state prohibition agent for Lorain county has received notice from B. F. McDouals state prohibition director at Columbus to turn his badge and other instruments of office by April 14, it was learned here today.

The order created quite a surprise here as Rankin was considered one of the best agents in the department.
Only a week ago McDouals was quoted as saying Rankin was one of the best agents on his staff.
The reason for McDouals' action, it was stated in the letter of dismissal, was because Rankin had announced himself as a candidate for sheriff.
An agent cannot be a candidate and serve in the prohibition department at the same time, the letter said.

Morton, who now is in the Ohio state penitentiary here, is seeking his release from the institution on an habeas corpus action.

Granted a conditional release from the penitentiary July 30, 1925, he was taken to Detroit where he was tried for the robbing of the Common Wealth Savings bank there in 1919. He was not convicted, and returned to Columbus. Morton's attorneys alleged he was kidnapped and brought back into Ohio after his acquittal of the Detroit robbing charge.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Whole-sale vote-trading on bills pertaining to flood relief, Boulder dam, farm relief and Muscle Shoals, is prevalent in both houses of congress, Charles J. Brand, executive secretary of the national fertilizer association, charged today.

Attacking the favorable report of the house military affairs committee of the Muscle Shoals bill which would provide for government operated fertilizer plants, Brand said:

"Few citizens realize the extent to which the government is being plunged into private business by this four-cornered political trading."

OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called ReXall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry, food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a ReXall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest ReXall Drug Store.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Taken nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

War On Gambling

If the anti-gambling war plans announced by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum are carried out by the police department, and it is a foregone conclusion that his instructions will be complied with, the baseball pool squad in East Liverpool is certain to have a merry summer dodging plainclothesmen and patrolmen.

With the baseball season lid pried off in the major leagues, fans' eyes will be glued on scoreboards and bookmakers and police will begin their annual hide and seek pastime.

East Liverpool, like most cities in the United States, has faced the problem of coping with the pool sellers every year. And the clientele of the agents has so increased and the bookmakers' territory so enlarged that the odds favor the gambling clique in the summer pastime.

Despite the handicap under which a bluecoat must work—and his uniform acts like a headlight in warning the pool operators, perseverance is certain to bring its reward. And it is a long shot wager that police vigilance will result in arrests.

And, too, the determination to suspend or revoke licenses of operators of billiard halls in which arrests are made, should prove an aid in curbing, at least to some extent, the widespread sale of the pastboards.

Baseball pool selling is an violation of state and city laws prohibition gambling, and offenders deserve no more consideration than operators of public gaming halls.

Balancing Books of Mars

By a few strokes of the pen President Coolidge has made possible the final settlement of the claims of Germany and Germany's allies for the more than 500 millions of dollars in wealth seized here when the United States entered the World war.

President Coolidge's signature recently to the Alien Property bill, so-called, almost ten years after the armistice, has brought to a close a most remarkable chapter in international finance. The bill also provides for the writing off of the account of Americans against the Reich.

Ever since the United States became party to the war in April, 1917, there have been astonishing revelations of the investments of Germans on this side of the Atlantic. Ships and factories, radio stations, banks and lands are in the tally. Insurance companies in the cities, salmon canneries in Alaska, plantations in Porto Rico, rope in the Philippines, far-reaching corporations under names which give no trace of their ownership, securities in American railways, skyscrapers in New York and ranches in the west, all came into the hands of the alien property custodian.

With the entrance of the United States into the war enemy property was taken over to prevent its being used against this nation and with the implied promise that it would be returned when peace was made. The policy of the United States with regard to this seized property differs from that of the other Allies in that this government was not a party to the Treaty of Versailles, but made a separate peace pact.

The bill which President Coolidge has just signed makes possible a final settling of accounts with Germany. The Germans are to pay for American property taken over in their territory; the United States is to adopt the same course with regard to the belongings of Germans in the United States. New claims, big and little, still are appearing on both sides of the ledger, and various settlements are being made or have been made. The amounts due, therefore, are known only approximately.

But at last the Washington government is on the road toward settlement of its obligations with Germany as a result of property seizures in this country. There has been criticism of the delays in striking a final balance in this huge account on the books of Mars. But the end is in sight.

Women Overcome Jealousy

In a few more generations there will be no such thing as jealousy in the feminine makeup. The hydra-headed, green-eyed monster, whose breath is fire and havoc in the home, is gradually becoming less dominant in the human makeup and gives promise of vanishing completely.

Such is the cheering information in a formidable-looking report just completed by one branch of the government.

The dragon of jealousy is being done to death by the modern woman. She is ripping off the ugly, sniveling mask, she reveals the true face as only a glorified inferiority complex, seeded in repressions and fears and nurtured by introspection and a consistently dull life.

Women always have been more prone to jealousy than men, and because it has at last been branded as an inferiority complex, there is every reason to believe that within a few years, with women getting additional freedom every day, the complex will have been strangled out completely and universal happiness will be the result.

If it is true that jealousy originates in an inferiority complex, then it is reasonable to expect that the women—the modern women—will soon do it to an inglorious death. Because it certainly is impossible to say at this time that the modern woman suffers from anything even approximating an inferiority complex—in anything!

It's Postmaster Wood now.

A Chicago patrolman was fatally wounded in the latest skirmish on the Western front.

It's Great Britain's turn to give "Big Bill" Thompson the laugh.

Chalk up another victory for prohibition—and in so-called wet Chicago, too.

If Vermont, his native state, has its way, President Coolidge will be drafted at Kansas City in June. The Republican delegation has been instructed to vote for the renomination of the president.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—At twelve years of age, Helen Heckman was deaf, dumb, mentally undeveloped, physically sluggish, moody, and temperamental, and her parents had been told by physicians that she could never learn to speak. Less than seventeen years later, she is able to converse readily and rapidly, has a pleasant speaking and singing voice, plays the piano exceptionally well, and is a successful professional dancer although she can not hear the music to which she dances.

Miss Heckman has told the story of all this in a book that has just been published under the title, "My Life Transformed." It is, as has been said, veritably the story of a miracle wrought by dauntless courage and perseverance.

Helen was born in Manitou, Ill., December 30, 1898. She was a normal baby until she was eleven months old, when she suffered an attack of spinal meningitis that deafened her. When she did not learn to talk at the age when normal babies do her parents were not alarmed, and it was not until she was more than three years old that her parents learned the real reason for her silence. Then physicians informed them that she was totally deaf and would never talk.

In September of her eighth year Helen was placed in an institution for the deaf and dumb with several hundred other deaf-mutes. In June, 1908, her mother died. Two years later Mr. Heckman married Miss Vina Janet French, a native of New York, who was then living in Washington, D. C. At that time it was planned that Helen should continue in the institutional school, spending her summers at home, but after she came home for her first summer with her new mother she was never sent back to the school.

That meant beginning all over again, says Helen in her story. The girl was at that time in her thirteenth year, but mentally was little more than a baby. Her only means of communication with others was by the sign language, and by writing, in which her vocabulary was limited to about fifty words, mostly nouns.

Mrs. Heckman vetoed the sign language at the outset, and began first to teach Helen to understand written words. At the same time, in order to stimulate her interest in her surroundings and to inculcate in her some sense of responsibility, she began instructing the girl in simple household tasks, such as making a bed. Slowly but surely the child learned that she had certain duties to perform, learned the names of everything in the house, and learned to take notice of her surroundings. The same method of instruction was carried to the outdoors—in playing in the yard, in walking along the street, and in driving.

Helen Heckman is, of course, very much "like another Helen"—Helen Keller, another deaf-mute, but one who was also blind, whose remarkable achievements are known throughout the world.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, April 12.—A rather distinct species of the female in New York is the "party girl." She helps in her blithe way to ameliorate the loneliness that besets visiting gentlemen here to close the contract or finish other pressing affairs.

She is a flashy type who manages to skirt that invisible line separating the upper from the underworld. Her overtone is slightly blatant and she holds her liquor well. She is the sort with forthright blandishments who can come into a room and know everybody instantly. One of those "Hello Everybody" persons.

She radiates a hilarity and certain something that impels the visitor to be rather inclined to make a night of it. As frank as she is, she offers a bit of mystery. She prefers to be known just as Peggy or Flo and is careful to create the impression of being just a pal of the evening. No monkey-doodles!

Her night haunt knowledge is profound. She knows the exact time gaily reaches its climax at this rendezvous and that. And she is adept at piloting merrymakers to a quaint nook at sun-up for tasty bacon and eggs and a head-clearing cup of coffee.

Like the night she vanishes, too, with dawn. If you have been a good sport and slipped a golden note or so in her evening bag she will give you her telephone number. Other-wise she does not care to see you again. Money is never discussed. You are supposed to know a gal must live.

She has gambled her time against the hope of a financial reward. And if she loses, well, there are other nights. Other strangers seeking a night out. Every man whose business requires him to entertain has a telephone list of "party girls."

Their chief asset is being known as safe. If a playmate for the evening happened to run across one of them next day while in the company of his wife and tried to sneak to her he would be snubbed. The art of black-mail is left for her more dangerous sisters. She has a less dangerous credo.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Animal Parasites.
 We think of disease as being caused by a germ or some other invisible or microscopic agent. As a matter of fact, worms, some of them of considerable size, may find their way into the human body.

They are as much out of place here as a rattlesnake would be in a dwelling house. But snakes sometimes do get into primitive homes.

There are many varieties of animal parasites that find their way into man's intestinal tract. The most common of these is the ordinary tapeworm, growing to the length of 20 or 30 feet.

Then there are intestinal worms, known as thread worms or round worms. A most unpleasant visitor is the trichina, a worm that finds its way into the muscle tissue.

Today I wish to speak particularly of a parasite which is active in tropical or semi-tropical countries. This form of animal life is not satisfied to enter the intestinal canal of its victim. It actually penetrates the blood vessels and circulates in the blood itself.

I refer to a worm called filaria sanguinis hominis. This name indicates the nature of the animal—the thread worm of the blood of man.

There are several forms. One is the filaria bancrofti. This is a long, thin organism, while in color, looking not unlike a horse hair. It may be from an inch to three inches long.

This type is likely to get into the lymphatic glands. From the lymph it gets into the blood.

Now a strange thing happens. There is one form that is found in the blood at night only. Another and different form is found in the blood in daytime. Then there is a third form, a day and night worker.

The thing that caused me to write this article is a letter I just received

New York hotels, incidentally, are frowning on the party. Aside from the noise, the damage to furnishings has become a little too heavy. The management now has a way of putting the lid on hilarity. They point to the fact that furnishing accessories for making drinks is against the law and they refuse further room service when whoopers grow too whoopish.

There are, police estimate, some 10,000 amateur correspondence school detectives in New York. Every crime of a mysterious nature attracts them as flies to sugar with microscopes, disguises and other copybook paraphernalia of the sleuth hunter. Many continue searching for clues long after the police have given up hope. They have a Penrod naivete and eagerness and hard-boiled police veterans show them a tolerance that is pleasant. At least, they do no harm.

Apartment building owners deplore a murder in one of their apartments, not only for the bad repute it gives a building, but for actual loss from rental. Not always the apartment is re-numbered and loquacious elevator boys are dismissed, but even then the news leaks out and renters want immediately to move. There is a $10,000 a year apartment on the upper west side that was the scene of a brutal murder seven years ago. Two tenants occupied it for a little more than two months at a stretch but they were the only occupants since the tragedy.

New York leads the world in pedestrian pests who take the sidewalk. Two of them were galloping north on Madison Avenue, spinning several noddies on their heels and crowding a few others to the gutters with no thought of apology. At 50th street they brushed a lady walking with a sedate looking gentleman. But he wasn't so sedate. He grabbed each of them knocked their heads together and demanded they apologize to the lady. They did abjectly, nor have I ever seen such an exhibition of what the prize fighter knows as "yellow."

from Porto Rico. A gentleman wrote me regarding his wife. She picked up this parasite in the Virgin Islands where she lived four years. The poor woman has been suffering acutely during the past year.

Another symptom quite commonly observed in filariasis, as the disease is called, is milkiness of the urine. Instead of being white, it may be blood streaked.

There is still another form of this parasite, known as "guinea-worm."

A.—She should weigh about 117 pounds.

2.—They might. Why not have your doctor determine the treatment you need after a careful examination. While they are not dangerous they are apt to cause deafness, improper breathing and other conditions affecting the health in general.

R. L. Q.—What do you advise for freckles?

2.—I am twenty-one years old, 5 ft. tall. What should I weigh?

A.—Try using equal parts of peroxide and lemon juice as a bleach and apply a good cold cream after-ward.

Bloomin' Blighter.

London is smothering. The king of Afghanistan has departed, and talk alone is sufficient to make London happy. But there is another reason. Paris and Berlin suffered visitation before the royal what-d-you-call-it came to British shores. "Suffered" is precisely the correct word. And now the funny little king is going to visit Paris and Berlin again!

As is generally known the king of Afghanistan is also the king of dead beats. He buys lavishly and pays not at all. During his former visit in Paris he bought goods valued at $120,000 and the French government has reimbursed the smitten shopkeepers. In Berlin he purchased even more extensively, but it is not known whether the merchants have been saved by government generosity. In London the merchants did not welcome the king, and his purchases were rather small.

In Afghanistan Amanullah is a mighty potentate, but in Europe he is, truth to tell, a fussy and disagreeable little nobody. A very touchy and arrogant fellow, too. In London he was peevish if he emerged from his royal suite and found the busiest streets of the world's metropolis not lined with soldiers and all traffic halted for his progress. At a boat race he insisted that his boat be kept ahead of the racers. The passenger compartment of an airplane had to be rebuilt so that no one would be seated with his back to Amanullah. Now Paris and Berlin are to get another dose of him. And then, if his plans are not altered, he is going on to Moscow.

On to Moscow! The prospect is altogether delightful.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

says Edna Wallace Hopper, "that your shoulders, for convenience and custom's sake, are covered. And how fine the texture of the skin!"

"Your face must be the harbor for innumerable specks of dust and soot, lashed by the wind—treated harshly day in and day out. So if you thoughtlessly attempt to cleanse it with soap and water, ugly, large pores, seamy roughness result."

"Your face is entitled to the best of care. It's even easier than the hit-or-miss method of washing, which places additional tax on an overburdened skin."

"My French liquid cleanser, which I call Facial Youth, goes to the depths of your pores, gently, actually removes the dirt and soothingly undoes the harm of the wind and dust. It has a fresh, clean scent and is by far the best method I know of to protect and cleanse the face. Get Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth at any toilet counter, 75 cents."

Standing makes back and legs ache
How 3/4 of the workers in the Straus Silk Mills relieve tired muscles

"... It's as good a job as any mill worker could ask—nice people to work with, good pay, fair conditions—but a factory job anywhere is bound to be hard work."

ONLY the mill workers themselves know how legs and feet can ache and how lame backs can be after a long day walking up and down a spinning frame.

Something they must have to take the ache out—to relieve the stiffness and fatigue which might otherwise make it necessary for them to miss many a day's work.

The workers in the Straus Silk Mills in Trenton are a particularly fresh, wholesome-looking lot of women. And so we asked them what they do to prevent aching and strain from standing at a spinning frame all day.

From three-quarters of them came promptly the answer, "I never use anything but Sloan's."

Everywhere the leading remedy for muscular pain

Everywhere you go you hear the same story from people whose work brings a strain on their muscles. Read the experience of this New York woman—

"I had such a backache I didn't know what to do. I used Sloan's Liniment, and in half an hour I was better. Now, when anyone has a pain, I say, 'Use Sloan's.'"

Another woman writes—

"The pain in my back was like a knife stab and it left me helpless. Sloan's Liniment was given me to ease the pain and I am now able to do all my own work."

Sloan's Liniment is scientific—absolutely reliable because it works by the quickest, surest method known to relieve pain. It stirs up the circulation—brings new blood right to the spot where the pain is, sweeps away the cause of the trouble.

You can get it in any drug store. A bottle that will last you a long time for 35 cents. Use it for—

Rheumatism Lame muscles
Sciatica Stiff neck Lumbago Colds and Neuralgia congestions
Sprains and bruises

A company doctor who cares for hundreds of workers every year says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

One of the workers in the Straus Silk Mills. 3/4 of these workers said that after a long day on their feet they find Sloan's their best help for tired backs and legs.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the result of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

BIG AUTO RACE KING OF KINGS ON APRIL 16 HERE MONDAY

French Car Will Contest With Stutz Black Hawk.

A cablegram from Charles T. Weymann, of Paris, France, sponsor of the Hispano-Suiza car in the approaching 24-hour international match race with a Stutz Black Hawk for a wager of $25,000, advised F. E. Moskovics, president of the Stutz Motor Car company and sponsor of the Stutz, that Weymann's Boulogne type Hispano-Suiza speedster was shipped from France on March 28 on the SS Ile de France. Leaving on the same vessel was Robert Bloch, famous French racing driver who will alternate with Weymann at the wheel of the Hispano in the 24-hour duel on the Indianapolis Motor speedway on April 16. Weymann followed a few days later on the Leviathan.

The French car, which is generally credited with being the fastest stock car manufactured in Europe, is expected to arrive in Indianapolis this week, giving the drivers time to tune the car for the race and permit the drivers to become acquainted with the peculiarities and difficulties of the Indianapolis track. The Indianapolis race course is unlike any other in the world, because of its sharp, slightly banked corners and its time-roughened brick surface.

Only as familiarity with the Indianapolis Speedway is concerned with the Stutz drivers have any advantage over Bloch and Weymann. Bloch has gained fame particularly in the famous 24-hour races at LeMans, France. In winning an all-time record for that strenuous course. For the past several weeks, he has had Mr. Weymann's Hispano racer at the race course at Montclery, near Paris, preparing it for the battle for international stock car supremacy and for the purse of $25,000 that awaits the winner. Weymann has had no professional experience as a race driver, but he is one of the best known amateur drivers in Europe, where many of the biggest races are limited to amateur entries.

De Mille's Greatest Picture Coming to Ceramic.

Monday night, April 16, takes place the premiere in East Liverpool at the Ceramic theatre of the crowning work of Cecil B. DeMille's career, "The King of Kings," for an engagement of three days. This wonderful picture dramatization of the life of Christ enlisted the energies of the DeMille organization for a year. It included the acting of hundreds of fine players and the construction of tremendous sets of Bible scenes such as had never before been attempted. For the first time a producer re-created the Temple at Jerusalem, the Palace of Herod and many other historical locales of the Gospel story. As an example of the physical elaborateness, it is worth mentioning that 10,000 objects or properties pertaining to the primitive Christian era were made and used.

Jeanie Macpherson with her adaptation and Mr. DeMille with his directing genius are said by the reviewers to have made the history live and to have surpassed in tenderness, humanity and gripping drama power any previous handling of the great theme whether by stage or screen. "The King of Kings" is offered as a tremendous eye and ear entertainment containing all the elements that make the theatre a place of mental refreshment and pleasure. For, beside the marvelous story, there is a grand accompanying score, arranged by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld, reproducing themes from the works of the great composers as well as the more popular favorites of hymnology. One of Dr. Riesenfeld's directors from the Gaiety theatre, New York, conducts the accompaniment which is performed by full orchestra. Complete presentations will be given twice daily at 2:15 and 8:15 after opening night.

COOPER URGES FARM RELIEF, CHILD WELFARE

G. O. P. gubernatorial nominee in 1926 Kiwanis Guest.

NOON LUNCHEON
Municipal Problems are Discussed by Cincinnati Man.

Farm relief, education and governmental economy were discussed by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati "home builder," real-estate operator and church worker, at today's luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in the grill room of the Travelers' hotel, East Fourth street. Cooper also addressed a ladies' night meeting of the Salineville Kiwanis club at Salineville last night.

He was introduced by President Ralph Couch. Sixty members of the club and their guests attended the meeting. Municipal Court Clerk A. Earl Edwards was introduced as a new member of the club.

George Williams, secretary of the Salineville club, invited the East Liverpool club to attend an inter-city meeting to be held there, April 24, when members of the Leetonia club will also be entertained.

County's Biggest Problems.
"Child welfare and farm relief are two of the biggest problems which are facing the United States today," said Cooper. "No country assumes greater responsibility in education and physical well-being of its child-life than that of our own country."

"During the last quarter of a century great strides have been made to see that there shall be no neglected zones. The people today are now spending $7.40 for educational purposes for every $1 that was spent 30 years ago. As a people we are recognizing the importance of good education for the youth of the lands necessary to their well-being. Ohio is not wanting in state responsibility in this regard for we are appropriating $3,000,000 annually for the benefit of weak school districts."

"The agriculture situation is not a group or block problem, simple affecting the well-being of the farmer alone. As a matter of fact the farmer buys everything that industry and mechanical skill produces and when he is going in the opposite direction to prosperity it simply means that there will be less purchases made from the products of our industries; it means that the wheels of industry will be slowed down and labor thrown out of employment."

"Then we must remember that the force and the factory do not produce food and people cannot live without food. Ten million men and boys are engaged in agriculture pursuits. This is one-third of the manpower of the nation, receiving 13 per cent of the national income. It takes better than two men on the farm to equal the earnings of one man in industry. We shall have a farm problem so long as this inequality exists."

Exodus From Farm.
"Tens of thousands of people are being drawn from the rural districts to the urban centers annually by the fascinating call of the week-end pay envelope. The agriculture department of the United States reports that 650,000 people moved from the country to the cities last year. In Ohio alone 500,000 people drifted to the cities in six and one-half years."

"Many problems are created in our cities to take care of this increased population. We must provide pure water, sanitation, hospitals, police and fire protection, street building, schools and the big problem of housing."

"Nationally we have seen in six and one-half years a program of wise economy and constructive business methods making for efficiency in government. By this program our national debt has been decreased by some $7,000,000,000. We owe our present prosperity to this wise policy. There has been a tendency in states and subdivisions to increase the burden of taxes rather than decrease them. As a result we have increased the cost of government in states and municipalities by as much as it takes to operate our federal government. When people realize that 30 cents of every dollar goes to some form of government then everyone will come to the realization that they should regard their government as a private enterprise and awake to the fact that they have a responsibility."

"Every person should look upon citizenship as a responsibility to good government. Less than 50 per cent of the people were sufficiently interested as to who should be president of the United States to go to the polls in 1920. In 1924 this fraction was slightly higher. Good government is the price of eternal vigilance."

"If we expect law enforcement, law observance, protection of life, a measure of economy in public affairs, we can no longer shirk this responsibility."

WITNESS SAYS OIL DOME PACT WAS 'SHUT-OUT'

Amos L. Beaty Hits Fall in Sinclair Trial.

OFFER DECLINED
Ex-secretary Alleged to Have Favored Millionaire.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Evidence purporting to show that ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall made a "shut-out" proposition of leasing the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve to the government today at Sinclair's criminal conspiracy trial.

Amos L. Beaty, former president of the Texas company, was put on the stand by the government. He said that in March, 1922, a month before the Sinclair lease was signed, he went to Fall with an offer for the naval reserve.

"Fall told me," Beaty testified, "that he had an offer from Sinclair that was satisfactory."

The Texas company's capitalization, Beaty said, was $164,500,000. Beaty said Fall had told him he would give preference to the company that acquired title to certain places mining claims then existing on the dome. Sinclair already had acquired these titles and turned the quit-claims over to the government.

Beaty learned of the Sinclair lease a week after it was signed.

Another Oil Man Testifies.
Another oil man who faced similarly folded Beaty on the stand. He was Birch Helms, of the Texas-Pacific Oil company.

Helms made the rounds of Washington in the spring of 1922 seeking a lease on Teapot Dome, he said.

"I was referred to Secretary Fall," Helms declared. "I saw him about the middle of April. He told me he would be glad to consider a proposition."

Sinclair had actually signed a lease a week before this, on April 7.

Leslie A. Miller of the Aerial Oil company was the next witness. He said he learned of "the possibility" of leasing Teapot Dome on April 6, 1922. He promptly wired Senator Kendrick (D.) of Wyoming asking for information.

Through the newspapers Miller learned of the Sinclair lease on April 20.

Senator Kendrick took the stand. Kendrick testified that upon receipt of Miller's wire he promptly sent his secretary to the interior department.

On April 10, Kendrick received a communication from H. Foster Bain, then chief of the bureau of mines, enclosing a press statement of April 6, stating "a policy is being rapidly developed" relative to Teapot Dome but "no contract has been let."

Through the newspapers Miller learned of the Sinclair lease on April 20.

POLICE PROBE HINTS MURDER IN OHIO DEATH

Discredit Suicide Theory in Norwalk Mystery.

FIND NO CLUE
Thayer Jackson, 42, Shot Through Head.

NORWALK, O., April 12.—Coroner C. L. Bell, after stating that the question of the death of Thayer Jackson, 42, a Norwalk furniture dealer, did not come under his jurisdiction, decided to reverse his decision today and announced he would return a verdict of suicide at once. Dr. Bell took this action on the advice of Prosecutor E. G. Martin, it was said.

Although they have uncovered enough evidence to convince them that Jackson was murdered, police admitted that thus far they had no leads as to the identity of the killer.

Coroner C. L. Bell has refused to give an opinion as to whether death was the result of murder or suicide. It is pointed out, however, that there were no powder marks on the victim's head. And that his widow did not recognize the pistol which lay beside the body. She said, in fact, that her husband had never owned a gun.

Heard Scuffle in Home.
Jackson was a member of one of the Norwalk Ohio's wealthiest families and presumably had no business worries or any other motive for suicide. Wednesday morning Jackson failed to appear at his furniture store and William Binzley, his business associate, asked Police Chief F. R. Remington and a patrolman to investigate.

On ringing the front door bell, the police officers report that they heard a noise, evidently a scuffle followed by the slamming of a door.

After failing to force the front door, the officers gained entrance to the house through a cellar window and found Jackson in his bedroom, fully clothed, and shot in the head. He was still alive but unconscious and died a short time later.

Pittsburgh-Cleveland Coach Goes Into Ditch.

CLEVELAND, April 12.—Several persons were reported cut and bruised when a Pittsburgh-Cleveland motor bus, Cleveland-bound, skidded into a ditch about 15 miles east of here early today.

Twenty-five passengers were aboard at the time, it was said.

Supt. William Miles, of the Bus company's Cleveland garage, left for the scene immediately with a rescue crew.

None of the passengers required medical attention. Another bus brought them to their destination.

Bremen Starts Hop

Sighted on West Coast.
LONDON, April 12.—Civil guards on Aran island, at the entrance to the Bay of Galway, sighted the Bremen at 7:25 o'clock according to a message from Dublin this afternoon. The plane was about 2,000 feet up and was barely discernible owing to thick mist. Aran island is about 125 miles from Dublin.

LONDON, April 12.—The trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen passed over Galway on the west coast of Ireland at 7:05 a. m. (English time) today, according to a Central News dispatch from Galway.

The plane was flying strongly in a northwesterly direction. It was seen later over Costelloe, 20 miles west of Galway, heading westward towards the Atlantic.

Cosgrave Says Goodbye.
DUBLIN, April 12.—Determined to be the first to span the Atlantic ocean in a westward flight, Captain Hermann Koehl, commandant James E. Fitzmaurice, and Baron Ehrenfried Von Huenefeld, hopped off from the Baldonnel airdrome for America in the Junkers monoplane Bremen at 5:33 a. m. today.

Capt. Koehl handled the "joy-stick" at the take-off. Commandant Fitzmaurice, chief of the Irish Free State air force, who was to act as relief pilot, sat next to him. Von Huenefeld went along as observer.

While a crowd of several hundred soldiers on the field cheered, the heavily-loaded plane lifted gracefully from the field and headed westward.

President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State shook hands with them before they hopped off.

Follow "Great Circle."
After weeks of reports of miserable weather the flyers were greatly elated last night when they learned that conditions as far west as the mid-Atlantic were perfect for a transcontinental flight.

At dawn, Koehl and his companions came on the field sniffling broadly and showing little nervousness. Von Huenefeld was happy as a youngster and pointed to the sun breaking through the clouds.

The flyers will take the northern "great circle" route usually used by trans-Atlantic fliers.

If they maintain the schedule they have set for themselves the flyers should pass Newfoundland early tomorrow morning and arrive at Mitchell field sometime tomorrow afternoon.

After partaking of a hearty breakfast, Father O'Arriagan, chaplain at the airdrome, gave them holy communion.

Koehl was the first of the flyers to reach the plane. He carried a German flag. He took his seat in the cockpit.

Fitzmaurice, carrying an Irish flag, and Von Huenefeld followed in order.

Carry Sandwiches, Coffee, Tea.
The Bremen was accompanied to the coast by a small Napier plane carrying Captain Carroll and Lieutenant Russell of the Irish Free state air force.

The flyers' food supply consisted of many sandwiches, and strong coffee and beef tea.

Officials at the field declared that on no previous flight attempt from Baldonnel had conditions been more perfect.

While the plane's engine roared steadily, the Irish tri-color broke out alongside the German flag as the plane disappeared.

Koehl made his decision to take the northern route because of bad weather centering to the southward. He stated that he expected the plane would average ninety miles an hour.

Fitzmaurice's wife was at the field to bid him goodbye.

600 Gallons of Gas Aboard.
The Bremen, a low-winged, all metal, single-motored monoplane, is a standard Junkers model. It has a wing spread of 58 feet, three inches and an overall length of 34 feet, five inches. It stands nine feet, six inches high.

It is capable of a top speed of 123 miles an hour. Its cruising speed is about 97 miles an hour. Adverse flying conditions will, of course, reduce this speed.

"CY" YOUNG, FAMOUS BIG LEAGUE PITCHER, CALLED IN MURDER TRIAL

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 12.—"Cy" Young, famous big league baseball pitcher of three decades ago, may be a member of the jury which will try William D. Herron, charged with choking his sister-in-law, Viola May, 21, to death and throwing her body into the Tuscarawas river. His name was one of 75 drawn from the jury wheel yesterday.

Counsel for Herron have announced that they will ask for a change of venue and in the event this request is granted, opening of the trial would be delayed several weeks. Herron is charged with first degree murder.

Fireman Dies When Truck Hits Engine

Railroad Man Jumps When Gasoline Tank of Motor Vehicle Explodes—Driver Injured.

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 12.—J. W. Dunford, 40, Navarre, Wheeling & Lake Erie fireman, is dead today as the result of a collision between an auto truck and the engine on which Dunford was riding, at Tiltonville, late yesterday.

Joseph Moffatt, Steubenville, driver of the truck, was removed to the Martin's Ferry hospital, with serious injuries.

Dunford leaped or was thrown from the engine, when the gasoline tank of the wrecked motor truck exploded, and sustained a fractured skull when his head struck a tie.

LOWDEN GAINS STRENGTH THROUGH ILLINOIS VOTE

Former Governor Now Barrier in Road of Hoover.

THOMPSON HIT
Practical Politicians at Washington Analyze Results.

By George R. Holmes.
WASHINGTON, April 12.—The practical politicians of Washington, who cannot wait until the smoke of an election battle is all cleared away before attempting analysis of the results, were agreed today on these conclusions out of the turbulent Illinois primary:

The presidential candidacy of ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden has been enormously accelerated by the crushing defeat of his foes in the state, and he now appears a real and very formidable barrier in the road of Herbert Hoover.

The defeat suffered by the Thompson delegates on their "draft Coolidge" plea drives still another nail in the coffin of that ambitious scheme.

Lowden now has more actual and instructed delegates to the Kansas City convention than Hoover, although this fact admittedly cannot be taken too seriously at this time because of the great stretch of Hoover territory still to act. Still, the fact remains that Lowden has today, two months from the date on which the Republican assembly at Kansas City, approximately 167 votes definitely committed to his candidacy.

Claim 345 Votes.
These instructed and pledged votes are scattered through Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, and Wisconsin.

It is no inconsiderable bloc of strength at this stage of the game, particularly when it is taken into account that his managers claim that approximately as many more votes will ultimately come to him from Indiana, Ohio, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia, Kansas and a few of the smaller states of the west.

All told, the Lowden managers figure they have 345 votes in sight before the balloting has proceeded very far at Kansas City. That is still 200 votes shy of a majority necessary to nominate.

Even more than the actual delegates garnered in Illinois, the Lowden managers value the moral effect of having their candidate go into the balloting at Kansas City with the preponderant backing of his own state. One of the chief arguments used as to Lowden's weakness was "he can't carry his own state." That argument was relegated today to the limbo of fallacies as a result of Tuesday's testimony.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A new issue—that of abolishing the color line between whites and negroes in the census bureau, was raised today against Herbert Hoover, leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Senator Hubert D. Stephens (D) of Mississippi, charged Hoover had issued the order to accommodate negro political leaders. The senator cited conditions in the census bureau to the senate and demanded that Hoover immediately rescind the order. Stephens placed in the record an exchange of letters between himself and Hoover on the subject.

In his first letter, Stephens called Hoover's attention to newspaper articles about the order abandoning segregation and allowing the negroes to mingle with whites in toilets and cloakrooms. Two articles said E. W. B. Curry, a Negro editor and Hoover delegate in Springfield, Ohio, had come to Washington to get the order issued.

Woman Injured In Fall.
Mrs. Delbert Lamp, Newell road, finisher at the Chester shop of the Edwin M. Knowles China company, is believed to have sustained a slight fracture of the skull when she fell while at work yesterday afternoon. She was removed to the City hospital, where she was said to be recovering.

LEVINE WILL PAY $150,000 ON U. S. CLAIM

Trans-Atlantic Flyer Turns Over His Check.

SETTLEMENT NEAR Dispute Over Surplus War Material Contract.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Settlement of the government's claim of $500,000 against Charles E. Levine, trans-Atlantic flyer and aircraft manufacturer, for $150,000 virtually has been arranged, it was learned today.

Levine's check for $150,000 is in the hands of the department of justice, but has not as yet been finally accepted. Both the government and Levine's attorneys have agreed on the amount, but some legal details of the contract, which must be signed, have not been worked out.

Officials said that as the differences are minor the controversy probably would be adjusted and a final settlement reached within a short time.

Lost Air Mail Contract.
The claim against Levine arose from a surplus war material contract. The question was raised as to whether the government or Levine should pay certain freight charges, and as to the use to which the materials were put by the purchaser.

About the time Clarence Chamberlain, with Levine as a passenger, prepared to hop-off for Europe, the department of justice threatened to bring suit against Levine in the federal courts. Action was postponed, however, after the successful flight to Germany, and the government agreed to resume negotiations looking to a compromise after Levine's return.

As the result of his differences with the government, Levine lost several air mail contracts. Although he had submitted low bids the post office department declined to award the contracts, or to consider his bids until the government's claim was settled.

High school authorities today launched arrangements for the visit to Wellsville on Tuesday, May 1, of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of the Central Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y., whose address will close the school's 1927-28 lyceum course.

Seats for the lecture are on sale at the C. N. Brannan drug store, Main street.

This year's lyceum course has been unusually successful, according to school officials in charge, and not the least interesting of the six numbers of the course was the concert given by school music students recently, their performance lending encouragement to the furtherance of activities in this line.

Taking part in the concert were Esther Swift, Frank Nyiro, Martha McClelland, Cleora West, Charles Boyd, Richard Ginder, Paul Katz and Earl Eschbacher.

$30,000 GIVEN IN SLEE CASE

Henry Slee Estate is Awarded Record Judgment.

A verdict for $30,000 damages was rendered by a jury in the Jefferson county common pleas court yesterday in the case of Lillian Slee, administratrix of the estate of Henry Slee, against the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company. It is the largest verdict ever returned in Jefferson county, exceeding, according to court attaches, the largest previous judgment by nearly $5,000.

The deceased was a passenger on one of the defendant company's cars which collided with another car on the Steubenville-Toronto line at King's Creek on the afternoon of September 8, 1926 and died as a result of injuries suffered. Damages of $110,000 were sought by his widow.

The case went to trial Tuesday afternoon shortly after court convened yesterday. The traction company admitted liability, according to its attorneys, for the second time in the history of the court that a defendant did so and the trial resolved itself into a fight over the amount only.

Our Third Annual Special Trade-in SALE

The Fast Get-Away —the Quick Stop of Modern Motors Demand Modern Tires

What OTHER tire has kept pace with the rapid development in motor cars, particularly in the past two years—their higher speed, extra power, quicker get-away, sudden stopping—punishment that tears down the ordinary carcass and grinds off the tread of any tire not built to meet the new driving conditions.

Built bigger and better through and through. Not merely thicker in tread—not merely more rubber on the surface. Even some of the cheaper tires can copy the thickness of the tread, but it isn't only the amount of rubber that counts with General—it's the kind. Not simply more rubber but more pure rubber, more per tire—and not only more in the tread but more inside.

Bigger, thicker tires and more quality in the rubber—that is the sort of tire foundation the modern motor car must have. It is the reason for car owners everywhere turning to top quality—

General's Dual Tread Proper Size Line

The SEVEN

for Cadillac, Packard, Lincoln, Rolls Royce, Pierce Arrow—others.

The BIG SIX

Protection That Cannot Be Duplicated By Any Other Tire

It's not only the second 10,000 miles that makes the big bit, but the uninterrupted service that carries through to the last mile—the protection that can be given only when it is built into the tire—

Not the protection that dodges the question of natural wear and insures against accidents by promising free repairs—

Not the sort of protection that you collect on only by having trouble—But the "top quality" protection that means avoidance of delay, of dirt, of soiled and sometimes spoiled clothing, of ruined tubes through going flat.

These are the real protections that car owners want today, particularly since reclaimed rubber in tires has proved such a troublesome experiment for millions of users by causing tires to go out prematurely.

*Always Foremost In Value-Giving—
This Year Bigger Than Ever*

Sale Starts Tomorrow 8 A.M.

Low rubber prices and the added benefit of our special full-value allowance for your old tires enable us to offer an unparalleled opportunity in this year's event—savings in first cost equalled only by the final economy of General's extra mileage.

Rollaway on Generals at the lowest figure ever known.

Cash in your worn tires at their highest worth.

Everyone can take advantage of this Trade-in Sale, no matter how much or little the tires are worn.

Every Make, Every Size, Old or New,
Will Be Taken In

We'll buy your old tires and pay liberally for the miles left in them—the blowouts and road troubles in the old tires, too. Get rid of your doubtful tires before they go out. They're worth more to you off your wheels than on. You trade in the old tires for more than they're actually worth to you today and get in exchange new Dual Tread, "Proper Size" Generals that will run through several seasons in comfort, safety and style at the lowest cost you ever paid.

Never Before Has Top Quality Cost So Little—Never So Easy To Pay For

When the Trade-in Sale opens tomorrow morning, car owners who have thought Generals too high for the average pocketbook are going to be surprised.

We know that once they ride on GENERALS there will never be a question of the cost again, even if tire prices should go to the highest peak.

We want every car owner in the city and vicinity to know what it means to run on Generals—how little it costs to enjoy top quality mileage ANYTIME and particularly now with the special opportunity this Trade-in Sale offers for getting started.

*During This Sale the Friends We Make
Are More Important Than Profits*

No other occasions in the rubber industry have so stirred the wholesale response of the car owning public as have these annual spring trade-in events.

Created originally by General in 1926, it has been widely imitated, but after all, General's top quality is the one possible basis for success, for giving to the public the genuine values of the Trade-in Plan.

Without that feature of quality leadership which only General can give, the Trade-in Sale would not pay us. We can afford it only because of the assurance that customers taking advantage of this sale will "roll with us" for years to come.

Our one big object is new customers by the hundreds. We count upon the long term patronage that top quality wins.

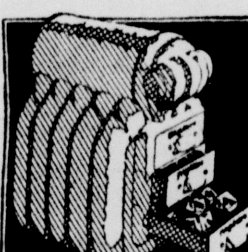

*The Used Tires

You'll find rare bargains in almost every make—every size—many only slightly worn—others we will recondition—and many brand new tires will be turned in, too—all go on sale—select yours early.

MIDLAND, Pa., April 12.—Patrol-reinstated by council last night, when charges were dismissed.

Cunningham was suspended when Michael Fuderich, Fifth Street garage proprietor, filed an affidavit alleging that the policeman had interfered with his business by making a false arrest on his property. He cited the arrest of Frank Ross on March 25 on charges of disorderly conduct and operating an automobile with muffler open. Later, the second charge was dropped because Ross' auto was in the yard of the garage and not on the highway.
When Ross was fined $10 and costs on the disorderly conduct charge, he posted $100 bond and appealed the case to Beaver.
Fuderich, Ross, and other witnesses were examined by Solicitor Richard Holt at the hearing last night. Attorney David H. Nelson, Beaver, represented Fuderich.
Burgess McNeill and Solicitor Holt were named by solons as delegates

TOOTH PASTE
—Removes "Yellow Mask"

go after
"YELLOW MASK"

DON'T let that Yellowish Tinge
on your Teeth Deny You Beauty;
This New Way Brings Glorious Whiteness Quickly—Try It!

ALL tooth enamel is ivory white—yours,
too.
That yellowish comes from a "liquid cement" in your saliva, which glues to your teeth—then hardens. Forms a glassy envelope over the enamel. Food, tobacco and coffee stain it yellow. Ordinary dentifrices give no aid—they gloss right over this "Yellow Mask."
But there is a special, non-gritty substance that banishes this beauty blight swiftly.
Foremost dentists use it for cleaning difficult-to-whiten teeth and putting a high polish on them. Can't harm the most delicate enamel. This substance is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." The beauty miracles it works are amazing.
Now dental science has succeeded in composing a pleasant, tasty tooth paste of this magic "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," which means that the whitening powers of this material are now yours for everyday use.
And that unsightly "Yellow Mask" can now be banished!
The name of this remarkable dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. No tooth paste has had so great a reception. Dentists everywhere endorse it. Noted movie stars have adopted it. Women and men testify to beauty effects that are a revelation.
We want you to try this magic ORPHOS.
It's different. Doesn't foam and froth, but oh! how it whitens and polishes! Get your first tube today. Don't wait. If you don't say it is the finest cleaning tooth paste you ever used, return the unused part of the tube to your druggist and get your money back.

Over the Uniontown Hill
with a long, long lead 1929 Performance that you can have Today
Thirty miles south of Pittsburgh, the old National Highway climbs up over the backbone of the Alleghenys—the famous Uniontown Hill.
It's a heartbreaker—this Uniontown Hill. And it's the hill of hills to which all motordom goes for the final proof of a car's fitness after the easier tests on private proving grounds have been completed.
To this hill, Reo engineers went recently to test the new Flying Cloud. With the Flying Cloud went a number of the country's best known automobiles—a six, the greatest seller in its class, another which has won a unique record for increasing popularity, a third of recognized great engine power, and still another considerably higher in price than the others.

Here are the results of the Uniontown tests:

1 The Flying Cloud swept over the crest at a speed 22 per cent greater than that of its nearest rival, and sixty per cent faster than the most expensive of the cars tested.	2 The Flying Cloud made the entire climb of 1000 feet in 2.1 miles in from 14 per cent to 28.5 per cent less time than any of the others.
3 The Flying Cloud's maximum speed attained during the climb was 14 per cent greater than that of the next fastest car.

Speed Too!
Here assuredly is proof of greater power—and power that gives great speed on the straightaway. In speed trials, the Flying Cloud showed a clean pair of heels to all of the other cars tested. The car that came the closest to the Flying Cloud in the hill-climbing tests was the slowest on the level, while the car that was second to the Flying Cloud in top speed had been the slowest in hill climbing. ... The new Reo Flying Cloud thus proves itself in both speed and hill-climbing. Others may achieve such efficiency in another year, but for today only the Flying Cloud gives you such demonstrated brilliance, such proved power. Try the new Flying Cloud for yourself. It will prove to you how far in advance it is.

City Loop Managers Round Up Forces For Coming Campaign

Potters' League Squad Plans Session Tonight

McCoy and Myers to In spect K. T. K. Talent in First Practice of Season at Columbian Park.

MANAGER SAUL MCCOY and Captain Mabel Myers, who will direct the K. T. K. City Industrial league club down the 1928 campaign, will get their first peep of the year at their pottery plant basebatters in action this evening at Columbian park. The club leaders have called a workout for 6 o'clock on the East End lot and hope to have more success in their initial start than the Chester, Newell and Wellsville squads which ran afoul of bad weather.

Nearly every club in the circuit had planned a workout or two this week, but weather has been anything but propitious. Riley's Chester outfit was billed for a Monday session, but rain, sleet and snow made it impossible. Joe Dickey's Homer Laughlin squad was also scheduled for a workout the same day, but had to call it off.

HOMER LAUGHLIN PILOT KEEPS BUSY; LINES UP 25 CITY LOOP PROSPECTS

JOSEPH DICKEY, hustling manager of the Homer Laughlin club of Newell, is permitting no grass to grow under his feet as he rounds up a squad for the coming campaign. The deadline on eligibility lists is approximately two weeks away but Dickey has already signed up 25 prospects, including the residue of his 1927 club.

To begin with he had Catcher Tony Randall, First Baseman Lee Habb; Watson, used both as an infielder and an outfielder; "Chappies" Finley, one of the premier shortfielders of the loop; "Speedo" Crawford, star out-gardener and Bubbin, outfielder. Through trades he acquired Bill Merchant, first sacker, Harry Simcox, third baseman, from K. T. K., and Stroble, from the Victory Motors prior to their transition into the Madison Billiards.

Since then he has obtained the services of Diaman, pitcher, who was with the club the forepart of last season, and the following additional prospects:

G. Miles, from the East End, pitcher; "Bud" Wright, 17-year-old lad who will try for a berth on the slab staff; Kenneth Stanley, second base prospect; George Foster, outfielder and substitute catcher; J. Wilson, who will make a strong bid for right field; Sherman Smith, an outfielder; Tommy Pussey, ex-high school athlete, who will also roam the outfield; McCornick, 18-year high school graduate, and pitching prospect who ought to go good with L. Dittmer, a 190-pound high school lad who may don the mask and windup; John Barnes, 17-year-old infielder; Owens, pitcher;

Rookies Share Honors With Vets in Big League Openers

Cohen's Three Hits Help Beat Braves; Cissell, Maguire, Purdy, Roettger, Morgan Perform Brilliantly.

NEW YORK, April 12.—As the excitement of opening day wore off, the two pennant races simmered down today to the prosaic level of routine business. Rookies grabbed a large share of the spotlight in the various inaugurations. Andy Cohen stepped into Rogers Hornsby's shoes on the New York Giants and found them too small, for his three hits gave the Giants a 5 to 2 victory over Hornsby and his fellow Braves. Arthur Whitney, rookie third baseman from New Orleans, knocked in two runs as the Phillies downed Brooklyn, 4 to 3. Other recruits who performed brilliantly were Chalmers Cissell, White Sox shortstop, Freddy Maguire, Cubs' second baseman, who hit a home run; Purdy of the Reds; Roettger of the Cardinals and Morgan of Cleveland.

The world's champion Yankees, determined to stay in first place every day of the season for the second year in succession, routed Lefty Grove and beat the Athletics, 8 to 3.

Thirty-one base hits rent the ozone as the Cardinals took a 14 to 7 slugfest from the Pirates. Frisch and Bottomley each got three hits, including a homer.

Adolfo Luque, Cincinnati mound ace, tamed the Cubs, 5 to 1.

George Uhle, the Cleveland pitcher who makes a good record every other season, apparently is in for a winning campaign. He beat the White Sox, 8 to 2.

George Moriarty, Detroit manager, spent the afternoon wondering why he traded Heinie Manush to the St. Louis Browns. The former batting king scored two runs as the reconstructed Browns trounced the Tigers, 4 to 1. Sam Gray, who twirled for St. Louis, displayed the form which once made him the ace of the Philadelphia staff.

The sojourn of the Boston Red Sox in first place in the American league standing was sweet but short. Four Sox pitchers issued ten passes and the Back Bay boys lost to Washington, 8 to 4. Ken Williams got three hits, including a home run.

Philadelphia's victory over Brooklyn marked the Robins' first defeat on opening day in eight years.

AT NEW YORK.—Jack Smith, former catcher of the New York Yankees, drew with Pietro Corri (5).

SPORT

NEWS AND VIEWS

By the Sports Editor.

FREDDY EDWARDS, young Chester welterweight, who has been fighting preliminaries in the Eagles' ring during the season now nearing a conclusion, broke into the main bout class last night at Lisbon, boxing six rounds with Young Jeff, a Lisbon boy.

The referee awarded the pair a draw at the close of the scrap.

Followers of the Chester boy gave the West Virginian four rounds, Jeff one, and one even. However, there were no knockdowns and little sensationalism, except when Edwards knocked Jeff through the ropes near the close of the scrap. The Lisbon boy was unhurt and came back strong.

The semifinal was cancelled when Tom McDonough, matchmaker at the Eagles' club here and adviser to the East Liverpool entry, refused to allow Kenny Davis, featherweight, to meet Bill Evans, of Lisbon on account of what he claimed was too much difference in weight. Davis weighed 124 and Evans 136, McDonough said.

Young Terry, Lisbon, knocked out Battling Kelly, Salem, in the last round of their four-round scrap. The Salem lad had Terry in bad shape in the opening round but the latter was back to put the Battler away in the closing canto.

Young Clendenning, 165 pounds, East Liverpool, defeated Kid Olin, 165, in a four-round prelim. The bell saved Olin from a knockout in the final round. Clendenning sent his foe to the canvas with a right cross to the jaw but the bell stopped the fight.

LEO WEBBER, City league outfielder in 1927, was back in town today after a tryout at the Danville, Ill., farm of the St. Louis Cardinals. Webber, along with a couple of hundred other lads, worked through all kinds of weather in the preliminary trials.

MANAGER JOE DICKEY at Newell is "leading the league" thus far in the matter of bookings for the coming season. Dickey has already billed a game with the New Cumberland club of the Toronto Industrial loop for Wednesday, May 2, at Newell, as a sort of preliminary to the local league opening on May 5.

The Hancock county seaters are managed by Lou Reese, New Cumberland clay shop foreman, and former Laughlin pitcher. Reese says he may work against Newell himself.

A number of improvements are planned on the Newell field prior to the opening of the season. There is some grading to be done in the outfield and a little work on the infield. A new backstop will be erected and other details attended to within the next few weeks.

Lutherans Nose Out M. P. Five to Cop Cage Crown

Jackson Street Passers Rally Gamely in Final Quarter But Fail to Overcome Foes' Margin.

Lutheran church passers of the "Y" Sunday school basketball league defeated the Methodist Protestants, 41 to 39, last night on the Y. M. C. A. court and sewed up the championship for the year. Both teams were badly off form, showing the effects of the long grind.

Neither quint produced the brand of basketball they were capable of in the opening half but play improved in the second and in the final period it was a battle all the way.

The squads were pretty well matched. Lutherans were first to score, G. Mackall sinking a long shot. Bettridge counted for the Methodist on a free toss. Davis sank a bucket for the Lutherans and Bailey, dribbling from mid-court, dropped in two points for the opposition. Davis and Wollet dropped in buckets, and Wooley repeated, tying the score at 7-all. Bailey's free toss gave the Methodists an 8-7 lead at the end of the period.

Bailey started the second with a foul. Davis knotted the score with a field goal and the Lutherans lead was boosted again by field goals by Schneidmiller and G. Mackall. Staley registered a field goal and a foul. Mackall kept the Lutherans out in front with another basket and Staley and Schneidmiller scored again just before the half ended, the count being 16 to 13.

Davis' bucket started things in the third canto, Schneidmiller following with another. Ankrim and Bettridge pulled the opposition lead down with field goals but the Lutherans outscored the M. P. the rest of the quarter, holding a 29 to 22 margin at the intermission.

Brown counted for the Lutherans at the beginning of the final. The Methodists suddenly spurred, Carey, Bailey and Staley scoring in succession. The Lutherans came back and boosted their own score but, in a last desperate effort the M. P.'s rallied again and came within two points of tying up the game.

Edwards Signs for Mitchell

Chester Welter to Appear on Next Fight Card.

TOM McDONOUGH, matchmaker for the Eagles' club here, today announced he had obtained the signature of Freddy Edwards, Chester welter, for a scrap with Ray Mitchell, East Liverpool, as one of the feature bouts of the next lodge mitt program on Monday, April 23.

This fight is deserving of semi-final ranking, in the opinion of no few fans and followers of the racket here, but it so happens semi-finalists have already been booked for the coming program.

However, if the lodge promoters would put Mitchell and Edwards on in the second preliminary and increase the number of rounds from four to six, this difficulty would be taken care of.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

The figure on the skyline was joined by another, and from one of these now there came a tiny and momentary red flare, that the distance reduced to the likeness of a match that had been lighted and then almost instantly extinguished again.

"Well, I'm damned!" grunted Bob Kingsley through suddenly clenched teeth—and clapped his iron-linked hands to his shoulder.

"What is it?" Tifu cried out anxiously. "Are you hit, Tuan?"

"A chance shot!" Bob Kingsley laughed shortly. "As you said, Tifu, the range is great, so a halfpenny bullet can hardly do much harm! But row a little faster if you can."

"May the curses of the Evil One be upon them!" Tifu roared savagely—and, grasping a pair of oars himself, shouted to Nissan to row with all his strength.

There might have been more shots from the cliff—Bob Kingsley did not know. It was rather queer—only a flesh wound probably. It did not bleed very much, or hurt very much—but he felt slightly nauseated, slightly giddy. And then the nausea passed, but the giddiness remained. He did not know how long it took to reach the schooner's side; but he stood steadily enough upon his feet when they had hoisted him to the deck, and his voice was cool and in control as he spoke to Nanu at the rail.

"Get under way at once, Nanu," he said. "When that's done, you can get a cold chisel and a hammer, and spend the rest of the night getting these irons off me! Meanwhile, where's Miss Lyle?"

"In the cabin, O Master," Nanu answered. "But the Tuan's wound—"

"Nothing to it!" said Bob Kingsley shortly. "Carry on as I've told you. Kafan, give me a hand down into the cabin."

He crossed the deck to the cabin entrance, and Kafan helped him down the steps of the companionway—but abruptly at the foot of these he halted.

Under the swinging lamp, Verna stood facing him across the table. The color seemed to have fled even from her lips, but her eyes were hot with outrage.

The giddiness was returning. He tried to smile. He did not know that he made only a grimace.

"So you have managed to escape from Mr. Richardson, have you?" she cried out hysterically. "I have been praying that he would succeed in recapturing you! Your men said it was not Richardson with whom you were fighting, but I did not, and I do not believe them. The only thing they have told me that I believe, because it is obviously true now, is that this is your schooner. The best I can see for myself, you have had it waiting here to pick you up on the arrival of the Monotah at Aoru, at which time, I suppose, you had it all arranged in your own mind that your ugly work would be accomplished, and you would be ready to take to your cowardly heels! You brigand! The tales that have been told of you paint you a saint compared with what you really are!"

His lips were dry. He circled them with his tongue. The giddiness was growing worse, his head was spinning like a top. There was whiskey there in the stand on the locker. His leg-irons clanked as he shuffled across the cabin. He poured out a half tumblerful of the raw spirit and drank it down at a single gulp; and then he turned again to find Verna still watching him—but there was a sudden terror in her face and eyes now.

"Oh, my God!" she moaned—and, sinking down over the table, buried her face in her out-flung arms.

The stimulant did not seem to have done any good. He reached out his manacled hands across the table as though to touch in diffident reassurance the bowed head before him—and drew them back and pressed them fiercely to his temples. He recoiled then, and, as Kafan caught him, he motioned toward the deck.

"Air! Get me into the air!" he said thickly; then, in a sort of self-amazed mumble as, with Kafan's help, he stumbled up the companionway. "Can—can you beat it! I—I think—I'm going faint!"

CHAPTER 34.

It was afternoon, and the Alita, in a light wind, was tacking in for a point of land some five or six miles distant that showed now off the port bow.

Bob Kingsley leaned against the weather rail, his eyes on Tifu at the wheel—his thoughts far afield. It had been a strange voyage! They were ten days out from Aoru—and in another hour, or an hour and a half, they would make Kalawa. And in those ten days scarcely a word had passed between Verna and himself. Kafan had served her meals in the cabin and had attended to her wants; no one else had been permitted to enter the cabin. The freedom of the deck had been hers, but it was only of late that she had begun to avail herself of it to any extent—as though slowly she were becoming less disquieted and less in fear of her surroundings. But—she smiled a little wanly to himself—he was not at all sure how she would act now, or rather, react to what he had to say, and to what he proposed to do in this last hour just before Kalawa was reached. He would not, however, be long in doubt on that score, for a few moments ago he had sent Kafan below to tell her that they were making land, that there was something he must say to her—and Kafan had brought back word that she would come up on deck in a few minutes.

Bob Kingsley pushed his cap abruptly and uneasily to the back of his head. The breeze a little while ago had seemed cool enough—now it seemed suddenly hot and unrefreshing.

During all the voyage, though the crew had rigged up a bit of privacy for him, he had berthed forward with Nanu and the rest of the men. His wound had proved to be only a flesh wound, no infection had set in, and, other than keeping him below for the first four days, it had not amounted to much. But in those four days when only mental activity was possible, he had come to some rather definite, and perhaps drastic, decisions.

His first intention had been to take Verna direct to Singapore, and restore her to her family, assuming that others of her family besides Colonel Lyle lived there, or, failing actual relatives, to her friends, of whom she must have many. But in those four days he had utterly discarded that idea. There were very many reasons why he had done so. Nanu had told him that a small schooner had been lying at anchor for several days just off Aoru and had still been there on the night the Alita had sailed. That was bad news. It presented an opportunity to get away from Aoru that Chen-shu would not overlook. To board the schooner in the dark, and surprise and overpower the three or four men, probably natives, who at most would comprise the crew, would be no more than child's play. It was so obviously the thing to do, and so certain of success that, in his own mind, he, Bob Kingsley, had already rated it as an accomplished fact. In any case, since there had existed a means of transportation, there was no longer any guarantee that there would be weeks and even months before Chen-shu could reach Singapore. Therefore, Singapore was no safe place for Verna. As a matter of fact, she wasn't safe anywhere so long as that idol was in her possession!

That had brought up another point. For her own sake she had to be so indubitably dissociated from the ivory god, both as to its possession and any presumed knowledge she had concerning it, that neither Chen-shu nor his fellow bandits in Singapore would have any further interest in her. There was only one plan whereby this could be accomplished so far as he could see, and he had determined to put that plan into effect. She must, whether she liked it or not, turn the idol over to him. After that, he would go on to Singapore, and there, in those underground haunts that he proposed to visit and to which he had the entree, he would either openly or with apparent incantation, as circumstances dictated, let the idol be seen. The news would travel fast, say, from Java Dick's den of iniquity; his possession of the idol would be speedily and unquestionably established, and his thereafter, would alone be the trail that they would follow.

MISS DEL RIO IN CERAMIC HIT

The exotic beauty and splendid histrionic talent of Dolores Del Rio triumphs again in the role of Toni in "The Gateway of the Moon." Fox Films latest feature which had its local premier at the Ceramic theatre. Here is ideal fare for the theatre lover. An absorbing romance, colorful backgrounds, a cast of players of stellar rank and fine direction. The story of "The Gateway of the Moon" deals with white men's greed and primitive passions in a South American jungle, where Englishmen are building a railroad through the wilds. The construction outfit is in charge of Gillespie, played by Anders Randolf, a ruthless brute who is building the road with the lives and suffering of helpless natives. Hated and feared by every man and woman in camp except his niece, Toni, Gillespie has his way until the arrival of Arthur Wyatt, played by Walter Pidgeon, who is sent by the home office to investigate the ugly rumors. Wyatt finds all sources of information stopped by fear of Gillespie until Jim Mortlake, a young engineer, played by Leslie Fenton, reveals to him the cost in human lives at which the road is being built. For his pains Mortlake is lured and lost in the jungle by some of Gillespie's men. Then the brutal master of the camp tries to use his niece, Toni, to betray Wyatt. She had fallen desperately in love with him, but because of his indifference to her charms she seeks to betray him for her uncle. Then in some of the most gripping scenes ever enacted before the camera is unraveled a drama of primitive passions, hate and love that will not soon escape the memory. Thrills and suspense and humor, too, abound. The cast is splendid and includes Ted McNamara, in the role of Henry Hooker, a shiftless helper, who is a source of real mirth whenever he appears in a scene.

CHANEY SCORES AT AMERICAN

The motion picture has supplied the latest step in the evolution of the modern detective story. Perhaps the most popular form of fiction, the detective romance, which has gone through a complete form of evolution just as has poetry or other forms of literature, has now reached its ultimate on the screen. Lon Chaney, "Man of a Thousand Faces," presents the ultra modern detective story on the screen in his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, "London After Midnight," now at the American theatre. In it is injected all the modern mystery of the scientific detective, together with a stage setting and amazing plot in which incarnations into the Great Beyond, spiritism and ghost lore vie with modern science. The new picture, which comes to the American theatre, is perhaps the most weird Chaney ever been seen in. Chaney in the new picture plays a Scotland Yard detective, who employs hypnotism to solve an amazing plot clocked behind the "apparitions," vampires and ghosts of a "haunted" English manor house. Tod Browning, author and director of the new story, holds the plot to be the logical development of the modern detective story. The new picture, incidentally, brings to light the strange belief in

GREAT SHOW GUARANTEED PERSONALLY BY MR. LEHR

To My Friends and Patrons of East Liverpool, Ohio: In closing my last engagement in East Liverpool, I have saved one of my most pleasing bills of my repertoire — one that I am sure you will like, with plenty of specialties, singing, dancing, scenes and electrical effects. Besides a new feature play taken in conclusion I can only hope that you have enjoyed my performance and efforts here among you as much as I have myself. Sincerely yours, RAYNOR LEHR.
